[This handbook on the Votes, an Estonian people, was prepared for the Human Relations Area Files by members of the faculty of Indiana University according to a prescribed outline. It presents a broad cultural survey of the Votes. The handbook includes sections on Votic history, population, language, family structure, dwellings; brief sections on education and folklore; and more detailed sections on courting and marriage customs, religion, and labor supply and wages. Bibliographical citations and additional references are appended to each section. Pagination has been assigned by HRAF. Through a clerical error a gap in pagination occurred between page 42 and 48. However, no textual pages are missing. --Analyst]
